

TOPIC: SOCIOLOGY AND HISTORY OF THE ECONOMICS PROFESSION

NEW PUBLICATION ON GENDER GAP IN CITATIONS: female authors get cited 24% more than male authors; sample: articles in J of Population Economics and Review of Economics of the Household, two journals in Demographic Economics.

Working paper WP 18-078 with HCEO (University of Chicago) .

Older publications on this theme can be found on this page on this website:

<https://www.econoflove.com/research-fields> (last category: History of Economic Thought)